No one can debate upon the power of the 'Word'. Public speaking is essential in all walks of life. The Literary Advertising & Debating Society tries to inculcate oratory skills in our students through various competitions. It also encourages them to participate in intercollegiate competitions.

In August, 2018 an Essay Writing Competition was held wherein the topics were given on the spot. In February, 2019 a Poetry writing competition and story writing was held. Both the competitions were in Hindi, English and Marathi.

The Literary Association of Prahladrai Dalmia Lions College of Commerce and Economics along with the Cultural Wing organized a Lit Brew Week which was a fun and activity filled week in the college campus. Between 8th to 13th October, 2018, events like Poetry Slam, Terribly Tiny Tales, Unpopular Opinion, Continue the Story, Elocution, Comic Strip Writing, Debate, Fandom Quiz were conducted in various classrooms as well as in the college auditorium. Each of the events gave the students an opportunity to showcase their talents in various creative fields. In some events like Poetry Slam and TTT, some of the ex-students also came as Judges. For Debate and elocution renowned media professionals and industry experts like Mr. Javed Khan, Mr. Jerome D'Souza and Mr. Sreeraj Nair were some of the esteemed guests of the event. The response was overwhelming. The students were really happy to be a part of this unique event and we look forward to many such out-of-the-box programmes in the future and add to our talent pool.
