Debt Markets

Students have to select any one activity out of the below

Activity 1: "Debt Markets 101" — Social Media Post

Create a social media post - explaining India's debt markets to someone who has never invested before — like an educational Instagram, LinkedIn, Youtube video, Instagram reel, etc. Use simple language. Do not copy definitions directly from your notes or textbook.

Suggested topics to be covered.

1. Primary Market vs Secondary Market — what's the difference?
2. Money Market vs Debt Market — how are they different?
3. What is a Government Security (G-Sec)? Who issues it and why?
4. Meet the Players — RBI, Primary Dealers, CCIL (one line each on what they do)
5. What is a Bond? Name 2–3 types of bonds
6. Why Do Bond Ratings Matter? (mention one rating agency)
7. What Makes a Bond's Value Go Up or Down? (simple idea, no formulas)
8. Takeaway Slide — "3 things to remember about India's debt market" (3 bullet points)

Rules

- Keep it short.
- One relatable example or analogy (compare it to everyday life).
- No jargon without explaining it in the same slide.

Activity 2: "Bond Beat" — Financial Journalist Assignment

Write a 400–500 word news article, in the style of a financial daily such as Economic Times, Mint, or Business Standard, reporting on a real, recent debt market event. Do not write in an academic or explanatory tone — write like a reporter covering a live story.

Choose ONE Real Event

Pick a real, dated event from the last 2–3 months. Three suggested options are given below — you may use any one, or propose another real event with your professor's approval.

Suggested Event A: RBI G-Sec Underwriting Auction, August 7, 2026

The RBI held an underwriting auction on August 7, 2026 for two government securities totaling ₹32,000 crore — the 6.36% GS 2031 (₹21,000 crore) and the 7.71% GS 2066 (₹11,000 crore). This event touches all four modules: how the security was issued (primary market), the role of Primary Dealers and RBI (players), the bond's own features (coupon and maturity are in its name), and the cut-off commission rates as a starting point to discuss what the numbers suggest about market appetite.

Suggested Event B: PSU Bond Issuances (e.g., PFC, REC, NTPC, IRFC)

Major PSUs have been regularly issuing bonds through 2026 — for example, PFC's public NCD tranche priced at coupons between 6.85% and 7.05%. AAA-rated PSU bonds currently trade at a spread of just 10–60 basis points above comparable G-Secs, which gives a natural angle for discussing bond ratings and yield differences.

Whichever event you choose, look up the actual details from a credible source (RBI press release, exchange bulletin, or a financial newspaper) — do not invent numbers.

Your Article Must Cover (written as a flowing story, not under headings)

1. What happened — what was issued, by whom, and how (the issuance/auction process).
2. What kind of instrument it is — its type and features, and its credit rating if applicable.
3. What the yield/interest rate tells us — rising, falling, or steady, and what that signals.
4. Who is affected — banks, investors, mutual funds, or the government/company itself.

Rules

- Write like a news reporter — no "In this article I will discuss..."
- Use at least one real number (yield %, amount raised, coupon rate) from an actual source.
- Mention your source and date in one line at the end (e.g., "Source: RBI press release, 7 August 2026").
- Strict word limit: 400–500 words.
- Include a headline at the top of your article.
